RAILWAY ACCEPTS THE FRANCHISE

Nothing Stands In the Way Of Improvements of C. M. E. Ry.

SOME TROUBLE AT NAVARRE.

Sentiment is Divided in Regard to Franchise Business Men Oppose It as They Say It Will Injure Their Business.

Special to News-Democrat.

Massillon, May 3 .- The C. M. E. railway company has tendered City Clerk Seaman its written acceptance of the terms and conditions embodied in the ordinance granting the company an extension of franchise passed April 23, 1900. So far as Canton and Massillon is concerned nothing now stands in the way of the company making the improvements and extensions contemplated. The money necessary for the work, it is understood, is already at the disposal of the company, and there is evidence of activity all along the lines now in operation. The officials of the company have another wrestling match on hand at Navarre. A franchise is sought in that village and is, of course, very necessary to the construction of the line to that town.

The council held a meeting Tuesday evening but the street car matter was not broached. The council of the village will not meet again for two weeks. Sentiment in Navarre is divided in regard to the franchise matter. Many of the citizens want the line built. Business men are almost unanimously opposed to it as they contend that the building of the line will injure their business. They assert with emphasis that plenty of Navarrites will go to Massillon to buy goods but mighty few Massillonians will come Navarrewards on the same mission. The old council was in favor of granting the franchise. How the new organization feels on the subject is not known. It is said no canvass has been made to ascertain their position on the question. The C. M. E. company will endeavor to secure a franchise. How badly they want it is, necessarily, conjectural. It seems probable that the line would not produce any hair-raising dividends on the recent large increase in the company's capitalization. The line might be remunerative in years to come but the chances are that for a long time the line might be used by the seeker for solitude as the haven of his desires. How badly the C. M. E. company wants permission to invade the hitherto unmolested haunts of the Navarritte will be shown at the next meeting of the village council. Mr. Lynch may have another chance to limber up his persuasive eloquence. To what extent he will limber will be awaited with interest both by those of Navarre who do not want the line and those who do want it. In the meantime Massillon is pretty nearly satisfied with the progress being made along the lines of improvement here.

GRANT CASES ARE DECIDED

Circuit Court Gives Its Opinion On This Long Controversy

RUTH GRANT LOST ALL AROUND

While the Creditors Of J. J. Grant Score A Victory-Costs Assessed Against Ruth Grant-Will Be Several Bundred Dollars.

The decision in the Grant cases that vere before the circuit court this last term arrived by mail Thursday morning from the court that has been sitting at Zanesville. The decisions all around are a victory for J. J. Grant and his creditors as against his mother. Ruth Grant and his brother, Venzo Grant.

In the case of Ruth vs. J. J. Grant et al. the court found that Ruth Grant had refused the will of William C. deed to J. J. Grant of her dower interest in the farm he got from the estate for which she got his quit claim to the interest he had in the farm of Venzo Grant: that the title in the farm therefore should rest entirely and freely in J. J. Grant: that the mortgages of Elizabeth Baker and the Dime Savings bank had been signed by Ruth Grant and were without fraud or anything else to make them void and should stand as just claims against the farm: that the C. Barber and A. V. Smith was also a valid claim; that the judgment of the Farmers bank for $310 against J. J. Grant was good and should come out of the property. The court adjudged that when the farms is sold the claims shall be paid in line of the priority and that Ruth Grant shall be stopped from asserting any claim against the estate ahead of these claimants. Ruth Grant is also ordered to pay the costs.

In the case of A. M. McCarty, as administrator de bonis non of Frank Nichols against Hugh D. Brown as gudrdian of Horce Grant, Henry W. Hossler as administrator de bonis non of William C. Grant, Ruth Grant and Venzo Grant, the court also decided. This was a companion case to the other and both were argued at the same time. The court estopped Ruth Grant from asserting any claim against the estate with or compel a contribution from the estate of Horace Grant's estate which should go to J. J. Grant. Hugh D. Brown is ordered to pay to Henry Hossler all of Horace Grant's estate left after paying the dower of Ruth Grant as agreed upon before and the payment of $2,100 to William C. Grant's estate as agreed upon. After Hossler gets this money he is to pay it to A. M. McCarty as administrator of Frank McNichols on his claim of $1,150 and to Ruth Grant on her claim of $1,300 pro rata.

Under this decision the money arising from the farm, which is to be sold on May 15 by the sheriff, will be distributed unless the case is carried up to the supreme court.

PROJECT DEFEATED.

Plan to Centralize the School District Didn't Suit The Voters.

A special election held Tuesday at New Baltimore on the question of the centralization of three school districts of siarlboro township resulted in the defeat of the centralization project by the narrow majority of thirteen votes out of a total vote cast of 260. For several years past the school districts south and east of New Baltimore have been consolidated with the New Balti more school district, the school being held at New Baltimore and the pupils being hauled to and from that place in wagons. Two factions have grown from this arrangement-one favoring central ization and one opposing it. At the last session of the legislature Hon. J B. Snyder secured the passage of a bill providing for submitting the question of the forming of a permanent district from this territory to a vote of the peo ple. This special election was held Tuesday, resulting in the defeat of the centralization project. The election was one of the most bitterly contested and stirred up the most ill feeling and personal enmity of any election ever held qualities of Dr. Miles' New Special in that township.

Does Your Comb Look Like This?

that is destroying its root.

Just as the grub, working at the root it withers and dies, so can a parasite in the hair follicle rob your hair of its nourishment until, for want of strength and vitality, it comes out in your comb. The work of the parasite is far more destructive than that of the grub, for while the latter simply kills the roots of the one plant, the former not only destroys one hair root, but spreads from hair to hair till it attacks all the hair on your nead, and your hair literally comes out in combfuls. This parasite is not visible to the naked eye, but under a powerful microscope the appearance of telegraph poles loaded down with brush heaps.

This is no unusual sight at the Hair and Scalp Institute. In fact, it is seen there every day in the microscopical examinations of hair. But as people give little heed to dangers that are unseen, this danger is often permitted to exist until the continuous falling of the hair results in premature baldness

There was a time when this head of hair could have been saved. It was when the hair first began falling; when the result of the daily toilet was a handful of combings and the comb looked like the one in the illustration shown bove-while there was still nourishment in the scalp, and when all that was needed was a preparation that would destroy the cause of the disease and assist nature in repairing the dam ed the parasite f your favorite plant, saps its life until the falling hair; its nourishing qualities would have aided nature in feeding the impoverished and weakened hair follicles back to health; its stimulating qualities would have toned up the nerves of the scalp and the result would have been a renewed growth of strong, healthy and beautiful hair. This is no idle assertion. It is the most scientific kind of scientific fact. It is demonstrated every day in the Crani-tonic Hair and Scalp Institute. We can point to 50,000 cases successfully treated in our clinic during the past year, not to mention the hundreds of thousands treated at their home through corres-If your hair is falling, if you have
